You should wait until marriage to have sex. Having sex before then ruins relationships.

Um, Blazer and I have been together for almost 5 years and have been doing the deed since the beginning, and our relationship is far from "ruined".

I can agree with that, too. It always bothers me to think of the other women before me, so I try to avoid it. Unfortunately, when you get older, if your marriage fails and you are looking for another one, you're not going to find a virgin 33-year-old very easily, and you won't be one either.

For the record, I was 17 when I "did it". I think that if children are given good sex education and know about the risks and are backed up by their parents enforcing it, they may decide to do it sooner, but at least they will make an educated decision.

Ultimately, I agree with Kirby. The average family is fucked up beyond belief and TV and music influences are fucking up the kids even more. You can't watch these videos with women gyrating and wearing next to nothing, and the guy singing about fucking the shit out of her and not expect that young, impressionable kids aren't going to think that's healthy and normal. We keep breeding dumber and dumber kids from dumber and dumber parents and the only thing holding us back from falling down this hole faster is religion. And I say that even though I'm an atheist.
