
Subject: Re: How not to be a noob, for those of you...
Posted by sadukar09 on Sat, 17 Nov 2007 12:49:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Jeep Rubi wrote on Fri, 16 November 2007 22:13n00b, noob, newbie, I use them interchangeably. I don't care to be technical about it as I don't really care, n00b is a noob is a newbie.

n00bstories.com What is a n00b (not noob)? The definition we're using on this site is a player who may or may not be new to a game, but insists on doing brainless things, especially things that hinder the team. Those who are defined by this site as "n00bs" will also refuse to listen to words of wisdom or, even worse, berate those who try to help.

n00bstories.com is your home for stories and tales of those who do stupid things in online games. It's also a place to vent your frustrations for those who don't play as a team and those who are a detriment to teamplay. The migration of gaming to Internet play has introduced a whole new breed of idiots for us to deal with.

We at n00bstories.com do understand that everyone was a newbie once, and those who are polite, those who go through whatever practice is supplied, and those who read a few forum threads before posting their question are NOT the target of this site. We applaud and respect you.

Be careful of what you download! Several groups are advertising aimbots, trainers, and relays which are infected with a virus that allows them complete control of your PC! Many current virus scanners fail to identify these viruses! If you recently downloaded an aimbot, trainer, or relay that didn't work, you may be infected. Remember, cheating doesn't pay!
