
Subject: Re: A question on Iraq expenditures
Posted by prasp on Wed, 28 Nov 2007 03:26:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Quote:

Since when is the media too afraid to criticize Bush and his administration? They've been doing it for the past 7 years.

Well, let's see, before the Iraq War nearly every newspaper was parroting Bush's reasons for invading Iraq, and few people criticized or bothered to check to see if what was being said was true for fear of being called a "traitor", despite the fact that there were mass protests in the US against the war, and then afterwards when public opinion shifted they finally admitted that was a mistake.

And even now newspapers are refusing to report several members of Congress support and filed a resolution to impeach Cheney.

Quote:You're a mindless drone.

Funny, you support Bush.

Quote:How did a retard like you stay on this forum without getting kicked off?

Why the fuck are you such a hypocrite?

Quote:If you had an idea of how the economy really works, I'd think you'd be able to answer your own question...or at least search for an answer instead of posting here.

Do you even play Renegade anymore, or are you going into politics or something?

Actually I do, I just wanted to turn this into a bash Bush thread as soon as I heard that the middle and lower classes are paying 1/3 of their income to support this illegal occupation, whereas the wealthy only pay 12-16%.

And I still do play Renegade-only about 1 hour per week.