Hosting fees, bandwidth and domain registration are our main expenses. This costs several hundred US dollars per year.

Because I have no source of profit, this money comes right out of my own pocket - you may have noticed that I run no ad banners on the site at all - I hate sticking ugly ads all over the site even more than you hate looking at them!

If you are interested in helping to support the site, I am glad to accept any donations that you might be willing to offer. I have an account on PayPal for your convenience. I can also accept hardware donations for my Renegade server. Please contact me separately for that.

Donate $20 monthly automatically:

Donations of $5 or more also qualify you for a Premium Account. Each $5 increment is worth 3 months of Premium Account access. Click Here to learn more about Premium Accounts.

n00bstories staff automatically gets premium-level access for the duration of their Staff status on n00bstories.com. Other contributions such as IRC scripts, art, or ideas may sometimes be rewarded with premium access. Also be on the lookout for occassional lifetime access auctions on eBay!

NOTE: All methods of gaining premium access are handled by hand, not automatically. You must use the Contact Us link to notify the staff of your contribution so that we can adjust your account.

Thanks for your interest in contributing to n00bstories.com!!

(for those less quick people I am mocking him as this has to be by far the lamest thing ever done on this site)

Why do that? Someone asks for help and support in there work and you just laugh in there face.
