webhosting only costs like 9USD for unlimited shit.

waste of time tbh

Wow, you're a fucking moron. Sure, you can get shitty WEB hosting for $9/mo, but the uptime of the hosts and the quality of the bandwidth is always in question, since the server that the site is hosted on is shared with numerous other sites.

Those types of hosts are great for smaller sites that don't offer much to download. However, once you get to the type of server hosting you need to keep sites like n00bstories or game-maps going, you're going to need a dedicated server.

The typical cost for a good quality dedicated server isn't $75. You'll be looking to spend $150-300 on a quality server capable of handling loads that n00bstories and game-maps have to endure.

IronWarrior, this may be the time for giving, but it's supposed to be unprovoked giving. Requesting it lessens the joy of giving.

Also, I don't think I could support anything that zunnie has a hand in, else I probably would donate.

Yep, I agree with what you said there on the hosting.

Even though you might not agree with the same politics as Zunnie, don't let that make you lose any respect for the site, it's like not going to Germany because of what Adolf Hitler did 50 years ago.

Alas, taking over the site is a big learning experience for me, there has been many things the last two weeks that I had to learn on the go to keep the site online, has been fun.
