Teamwork is almost always more fun, but it can be tricky even when you have it. I often play with a pair of online buddies and we can usually plan a decent attack. However, if everyone else is planning their own useless attack, your options become (a) defend your base and hope your teammates get lucky or (b) leave your base wide open and hope you can strike a decisive blow before your opponents do. Without any base defenses, it can get ugly fast.

If I can't find much teamwork while playing, I usually lay some mines, buy an APC and patrol the base watching for attackers. It seems to help.
