Well, here's a nutcracker for yah.

My friend has a mother who loves him very very much. But she punished him for the stupidest things. she banned him from X-Box, MSN, sitting on the couch, and reading. That's right, he was banned from reading books. He was banned from TV and the Computer after he didn't do his homework for one night, when it was due next week. And if he ever violated any of these bans, (outside of school) he would be grounded.

Now, my friend is really depressed and hates his mother. Half the time he's at one of his friend's house, and 45% of the time he's at his grandad's. The only 5% he's at home with his mother is when they're constructing the Bungalow out back for him to live in, away from his mother.

He rarely ever swears by the way.
