
Subject: Re: What happened to sweet little kids?
Posted by newcheese on Tue, 25 Dec 2007 00:35:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Feetseek wrote on Mon, 17 December 2007 21:13Has anybody noticed that the massive amount of swearing of small kids? I've been extremely shocked listening to stories from my brother of kindergartners saying the "F" word every other minute.

As in the title, I blame the people over the Internet who swear for no reason other than the heck of it. This is my second year in high school and I have gotten through all my school years swearing only once or twice in public, so its not that hard. I just want older people to be more responsible in their speech

Do you guys think swearing has gone overboard??

Who gives a fuck if you swear?

The only reason it's bad is because society tells you it's bad. It's the same shit as smelling bad or being dirty, people might not like it but it isn't really a bad thing.
