Thank you everyone for your information and assurances. Thank you Crimson for sharing a lot of details!

Yeah, I was partly aware of the fact you need to buy from sellers with good ratings. Anyway, I am buying games from the old days just for some fun (like Tanarus, Incoming, etc). I know this one particular lady whose been runnin an eBay store for the past 6 years seeling toys, books and rare computer games. She had made thousands of sales and not a single customer left a nagative rating. She has this rare game I have been looking forward to own for 2 years!

Anyway, thanks to all for your great help!

P.S. I won't be selling anything (atleast for now till I get the hang of the system!).

EDIT:

Please forgive if I messed up the poll and you found it confusing. This is my first poll!
