Subject: Re: When was the "Edit" time-limit increased?
Posted by Starbuzz on Fri, 04 Jan 2008 00:04:45 GMT

R315r4z0r wrote on Thu, 03 January 2008 13:58It bothers me too. I like to edit posts like 30 billion times after I post it within the next 5 min, hopefully before anyone else sees. When that little "updated" thing pops up on the bottom it just gives me a weird feeling of "aww many they gunna know I updated"

Think clearly, make sure you know what the argument (or information) is about, and post with confidence.

This is what I do and the only thing I get wrong sometimes is typos. And that too very rare.

The timestamp does not even bother me in that regard.

Also, if you were to add something you forgot to write before, then you can add "EDIT:" and then write what you left out.

R315r4z0r wrote on Thu, 03 January 2008 13:58I even find my self editing my own posts days upon days after they where posted. Fixing simple things like spelling and grammar, and some sentences that make no sense.

There is nothing wrong with that.