

---

Subject: Re: Am I the only one?

Posted by Starbuzz on Wed, 16 Jan 2008 13:58:56 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

No, you are not the only one.

Some complaints I have of Halo:

- fluid-like movement was too slow to suit motion of infantry
- respawn time
- no teamwork in online play
- fucking fucked up sniper rifle with crap tracer (but realistic recoil/sound)
- Chatting in-game during multiplayer is horrible as the chat boxes and/or the letters are not color coded. Get's damn confusing...even to say "fuck you!"
- Vehicles spread out all over the place.
- Maps gets boring since they all look the same.
- Covenant weapons are boring

I may have more complaints but can't remember them: it's been 4 months since my 1-week marriage to Halo:CE (PC) ended.

Things I like about Halo:

- Sniper rifle has good 3-stage zoom
- Good shotgun (ROFL)
- Targeting reticle changes for different weapons.
- Piloting Banshees gives you a good feeling (since I unconditionally own in flying vehicles in all FPS games - including Renegade's Orca). Very smooth movement.
- Custom color for your multiplayer Spartan (not that it matters but still...)
- Ability to fire primary weapon/throw grenade/melee attack with weapon gives you more tighter control during those heavy firefights (not that it does not get boring in 30 seconds).

I may have missed somethings.