I think upgrading to a new PC would be best, even if it was a cheap PC, i'm sure the specs would be better and the graphics card built in would be better than what you currently have. Most PC's today come with a 6150 in it as the standard graphics card, otherwise, you could get a cheap PC, toss out the old crappy graphics card, and put your own 7500 in, the 7500 is pretty cheap now and runs cnc3 at full settings and 1280x1024 smoothly.
