For those that have tried it and got bored of it after a couple days, you most likely didn't get involved in an outfit, and therefore didn't get the whole game experience. PlanetSide offers a level of teamplay not possible in ANY other game available, mostly through outfits and outfit alliances, but sometimes empire-wide as well.

For example, here are some pictures of an armor raid my outfit did just last night:

At times we had over 25 tanks on the battlefield with air cover, anti-air support, and a repair/rearming station. Other times we had around 12 2-man main battle tanks, or 11 3-man bombing aircraft, or 20 artillery units shelling a base from over a kilometer away. The artillery also had anti-air support, and cloakers closer to the base "lazer-pointing" out targets for us to hit.

You just can't, and won't see anything like that in any other game. It is well worth my $15.
