Same thing happens in the military today. If a white male wants to drop out during the recruitment or training process, they get the boot no questions asked. If a female or visible minority wants to drop out they meet with the CO and he pleads with them to stay, or even offers incentives.

Now I'm not racist, nor am I saying that every white male was perfect during some of my courses, but majority of these visible minorities visibly sucked at what they were doing, and it sucked that they got better treatment. I guess sooner or later they'll meet a CO that doesn't give a shit about numbers though.
