Subject: Re: Renegade DOESN'T open when my Server is running...
Posted by Goonhaven on Thu, 06 Mar 2008 16:06:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

danpaul88 wrote on Thu, 06 March 2008 05:26Are you logging in to WOL with the same username as the server uses? Because if so that's why you can't see it, as soon as you login with the same username as the server the server gets booted off WOL. You have to give the server a different username.
By the 'game username' do you mean the game name?

This is what's in my svrcfg_cnc.ini file as the game name:
; The name of the server as it appears in the lobby list. This has a limit of
; 25 characters in GameSpy mode.
;
bGameTitle = Goonhaven's AOW Server

The game title contains my username but it isn't just my username, does it have an effect if it has any part of the title with your name in it?

OR is this the game username (in server.ini):
; Nickname =
;
; This is the Westwood Online nickname you will use when logging into the ; Westwood Online matchmaking system. You can use a nickname from a previous
; Westwood Studios game or apply for a new one by copying the following line
; and pasting it into your web browsers address window
;
; http://register.westwood.com

Nickname = Goonhaven

Nvm... I found out that it's the one in server.ini and changed it... Now my game works just fine! Apart from the GAME PENDING screen... But I believe I saw a thread on that somewhere.