Don't get me wrong, I actually do give two shits about the environment. But China builds a coal power plant every week; meanwhile, we're being told we should all live in condo's, and drive tiny little Smart cars around.

Troopm02 is an enviromentalist treehugger. I agree with you there Nikki. We should care about the enviroment, but not to the point where we should have to give up everything that we like and live in greenhouses and drive hybrids/smart cars/electric vehicles.

i actually wish we would all do that, we can't live like this forever and eventually it's going to require the tranformation of society.
