
Subject: Re: Need Some Help With Photoshop Stuff
Posted by Dave Anderson on Thu, 10 Apr 2008 01:42:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

SSnipe, Adobe Photoshop, like others have stated, already has a plugins folder for users to install their own custom plugins. Inside the plugins folder are subfolders. I cannot name all of them off of the top of my head, but a few are:

- File formats
- Filters

I may be wrong on the names since I don't have Photoshop installed at the moment, but do you see what I mean now? When you download a plugin you need to note what it is (filter, file format, etcetera) and place the plugin files into their associated directories. So if you download oh, say, the icon file format plugin, it would need to be placed in the file format plugin folder. I hope this explains it better.
