I thought I'd share this with Renegade forums as well. Supersquad is what me and my 3 friends call our little groupie now, since after each JROTC drill meet we hang out until late night when we're all about to fall asleep. Yesterday we went and explored about 10-15 miles of area around our lake/reservoir area. The highlight was I went up under a train bridge somewhere between 50-100 feet from the ground on the catwalk and got to see some amazing art.

I took these with my cellphone, so some are pretty blurry.
