Considering that the game is targeted at the 17+ crowd, I really don't see your point.

I've found GTA to be rather entertaining in the past both as satire and a solid sandbox-type game, so I'm eager to see what Rockstar's come up with this time. Since I recently got a new- and much better- computer, I'm rather torn over whether to buy it for 360 when it comes out or to instead wait for the PC release...
