I'm not saying that I am not a n00b, but I am at times. I qkicked shkkf for being an annoyance and wanted to shut him up(yes was mod on mod, but I got carried in game as usual, hate when that happens).

I find it strange when "madracks" or "madrocks" which ever he prefers says that I, "arty80" qkicked him for something n00bish. I haven't played that name in well OVER a year or two. I remember that name a little(madracks or rocks)which usually got in trouble for going against standard rules like b2b, glitching, etc. That was a long time ago. :( funny how people can talk crap about others while they don't even know about it) I remember going on this forum a very, very long time ago(before today) and got lost in some stuff o.O

I get accused for cheating from time to time and get used to it and then I just agree on it. The only place where I !qkick the most is in " Kamuix DM " for stuff like spawnkilling, glitching. I try to not get carried into game, and works from time to time.

I can't say that mods don't cheat, but some do which is like If I ever find this "madracks" or "madrocks" I want to join him and pwn his sorry @$5, and make him scream "CHEATER!!!!"
