yeah i second that, if you have 3 friends that enjoy playing guitar hero with you then get rockband you will not regret it.

better songs, more of them, no stupid boss challenges and it just gets everybody going so much more than GH ever could.

i also agree that the second guitar hero has better songs, but i like the speed and play of #3 alot more, it is faster, the hammer ons are easy... and tom morello song rocks.

plus again like someone already said for ps3 and xbox you can download alot more songs, coop mode where one plays lead guitar the other has a choice of bass or rhythm guitar, depending on the song. and you combine your note streaks and the rockstar power into one, and score ofcourse.

also no offense but, 300k for one is pretty low i can get 250k on medium and 230 no problem on hard. im sure on expert if you did the song perfect you could top 500k.

i beat all of medium and some on hard. i like "devil went down to georgia" its a hard song but its so much fun. unless im stoned then i end up button cramming it and only getting 75% or so lol. if i try i can get low 80's on it while on hard.

also for xbox 360 you can download the halo song for guitar hero. but i dont like it all that much, it sounds like a stripped down version of the song, and its a little on the hard side.
