Keep in mind, that the new ones that I have been doing for the last 6 or so months, do not contain the .txt message pop up anymore and nothing else will pop up after you run it.

And they also should install to the default renegade path and not to anything else.

Feedback is always welcome.

Thanks for the reply.

Well I don't use the default Renegade path so that makes matters more difficult.

I also just want the files, an exe is another layer between me and the files. Also downloading exe's can be a little sketchy these days.

I understand how an exe is easier for a novice user but I know how to install a Renegade map so it gets rather in the way.
