Honestly, I don't see how my political views can evolve any farther than they have at this point. That is, unless I become an anarchist, but even then I don't think I'd look back and see my current libertarian views as irrational. Instead, I'd see them as more moderate, I guess.

However, two views that I once had are incredibly irrational, in my opinion. Those are my anti-gay marriage stance and my liking of rap. Those two views bother me now.

Starbuzz, so you went from Christian to atheist to deist? Interesting move from atheist BACK to some belief in a deity.
