asdfg195And what exactly does this have to do with Renegade?

If you even read the first post at all you would see that he said there is a post in the Generals forums that is asking EA if there could be an update on why there are problems with the WOL servers and if/when it should be fixed. I'm assuming this post was put on the Generals forums because they are on the EA official forums and have a better chance of seeing and replying to it.

Just maybe...
