Sweet... So when's the release date for the patch?

Release schedule will be announced later. There will be lots of public beta testing (several months with various beta builds). We have to get this patch in its final state as stable as humanly possible.. if the entire community supports it, EA can approve this, as it has been communicated.

Scripts 4.0 has been in the works since early January.. with a full force team. It's just not jonwil working on this, but there's alot of teamwork between roughly 6-8 people every day!
