What I mean is that both people with and without the patch should be able to join a server but only people with the patch get the new fixes. A bit like RR is now, so I do think it is possible .

I disagree. I think the best way for this to work is not allowing the player to connect to XWIS without the patch, and for that we need EA to support us officially.

If all goes well this would be send to EVERYONE playing renegade. Or at the least, all XWIS players.

What Luv2 and me mean is that during beta stage, you'll have players with and without this patch.
