Yeah, but making it go slower requires:

-A lot of time and energy put into it. That time and energy could be used enjoying yourself, and/or could possibly create aftereffects in itself that'd fuck things up as well.

-Probably a lot of downgrading in technology. Either that, or someone comes up with infinite energy.

I'd rather enjoy my time with a little bit of heat than spend time trying to prevent something that'll happen anyways.

To be honest, it's like wishing for immortality. You get it, but then suddenly, you find yourself 900 years old, a crippled old man, wishing for death.
