

---

Subject: Re: Top 5 most hated things!

Posted by cheesesoda on Thu, 03 Jul 2008 15:54:43 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

warranto wrote on Thu, 03 July 2008 10:08cheesesoda wrote on Wed, 02 July 2008 19:42Oh, I don't doubt that she enjoyed it. I would enjoy not having the hassle, BUT I don't spend a lot of time in a hospital, but I do spend my money.

Then I'd argue strictly on the principle that I'd rather not have my government force me or anybody else to spend money that they don't directly benefit from.

Be it the government or an insurance company, you are giving away money that you will never directly benefit from... until you need to use it.

The difference between insurance companies and government is... the companies aren't government. Some may see this as a trivial difference, but I like my government small.

Companies lose power when people don't want their services, anymore. Government keeps its power.

Edit: "I would rather be exposed to the inconveniences attending too much liberty, than those attending too small a degree of it." -- Thomas Jefferson

---