Ok so I wrote a big long post and the forum decided to error when I tried to post it and I lost it. In short my HD is dying and I need a way to direct copy it to another HD without having to reinstall everything. I've only been using this HD for 3 months and it has started to show signs that it is going to die. I really dont want to go through that hassle again so soon of reinstalling everything. So do you guys know of any programs that could do this? Preferably from a bootable CD.
