BIATCH detects it as well.

About any kind of cheats: assume that every current cheat known to us will be blocked as good as we can. For some things this means the cheat is no longer possible at all, for others it means the current cheats do not work, and that extra work is needed for cheat developers to recreate the cheats. You should know that we're just as sick of cheats as most of you are, so stopping a cheat from working is always high on our todo list.
