
Subject: Re: in regard to the points fix

Posted by Gladiator on Fri, 01 Aug 2008 02:56:38 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Sorry to bump a slightly old topic, especially for a post asking people to assist me in being lazy, but... I've read a few pages total (not consecutively) of this thread, and I can't really see a compelling argument for not making it optional. The deflection that there's no reason NOT to make it mandatory makes no sense - I don't see why anyone would ever want to take away a persons ability to choose anything, and the few people I can think of that have ever done so... well, they weren't good people.

Anyone care to give me the good reason(s) not to in a nutshell, please?

Thanks,
-Glad
