We've proven it true. Don't assume things when you don't have any information. I think it's a lot fucking safer to assume that they're the same person than to assume they're not, if this game's history has given us any indication.

Even then, I'm not inclined to support giving him another chance (regardless if I actually have any say) for the simple fact that he seems to be TOO much like his cousin. I'm not saying you assumed. I'm defending MY assumption by saying that the track record of 99% of the people wanting amnesty for being "relatives" is proof enough that nobody should be trusted, initially.

Fuck, I mean, it doesn't take a genius to realize that one's cousin is a fucking moron. Mafia should know that Whorequeer is a moron and has been banned time and time again. It's simple deductive logic to figure out that his IP is almost 100% guaranteed to be banned.
