I'm here, my friend told me to come back for a sec.

Reason why I left? Cause my noob clan leader decides he doesnt like paying for a server and kills it off randomly which through people away from it. It used to be filled all the time, and he ruined it, then killed it for good. Then noobs all want their own server, and no one plays in them so they waste space on the list.

I moved to cod4, but long tired of that too because I got too good at it and became bored of just shooting noobs. Now I play motorstorm and soul caliber 4.

But in all seriousness.....who is fox? Do i know you? I dont remember you. I dont remember many people, even people in my own clan I forgot their names because they long quit before me. I played till the very end :\ I even sat in our server for hours just to hope people would come back
