

---

Subject: Re: Tech Degree

Posted by SlikRik on Tue, 05 Aug 2008 03:47:52 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

If you wanna learn just programming or just languages, go buy yourself a book, it's much cheaper. If you wanna learn the real tricky shit, that's what college is for.

Also, try not to think about expenses. There are an enormous amount of scholarships out there for any dumb thing, look them up. Then there's always student loans, which can come with a low interest rate and you can pay off after you finish college, when you're making the big mula anyway.

---