I agree to hell with fixing all the bugs, get the anti cheat stuff done, give that to us(so we can watch people get bad overnight). You can do all the g33ky coder stuff that you think just has to be right later . Besides some nerd will prolly have a new cheat out for you to block by the time you finally get done.

If you guys are expecting to be done for good eventually, sorry to say it won't happen the workload will decrease but there will always be a mandai out there who finds it fun to make cheats.
