Subject: Re: Tech Degree
Posted by _SSnipe_ on Sat, 09 Aug 2008 07:38:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Doitle wrote on Sat, 09 August 2008 00:16I had a big long post written up and the forum failed to load and I lost it... So I'm gonna go to bed... Grr... Anyhow Ssnipe dont take any programming classes at a community college, they wont transfer. You're throwing money away. You cannot usually transfer classes within your major. Just go to a real university near you, and get a bachelors degree in computer science. You will be employable, you will make good money, you will program. End of story.

sounds like a good plan but im still talk to a pc programmer soon and sorry to hear about the long post...i always copy and paste my text here on ren fourms since they dont save when something happens...even simply clicking back erases everything