I don't think many people understand what the points fix is actually going to do to affect their gameplay. If you don't shoot tanks with any weapon that doesn't damage them, it's not going to affect you at all. You can still shoot tanks with your sniper if you wanted to. You're not getting any false points for it though.

I wouldn't of thought this will affect the overall gameplay much either. There's only a handfull that do it, it wouldn't change the outcome of a game, anyway.
