There's been some talk about chopping off the ends of kitchen knives because a lot of crimes are committed with kitchen knives. You pay a ridiculous amount in taxes.

Yup, freedom.

.. Cutting the end of knives..? what? bwahaha, You think that would actually happen? You've got to be kidding me.

Speaking out against Islam? Link me to the news article, unless they were being racist or discriminative, I can side with you, But I generally dislike racist people so no sweat for me.

As for taxes, that's the price you pay for living in a privileged country, Free education, Dole if you're down on luck, council houses, child support, Once you live here, food & cloth is relatively cheap, But I live in Liverpool so it's always been cheap here.. but we're now capitalizing on the Capital of Bullshit 2008 so prices have gone up due to Tourists.

the UK isn't as bad as you're trying to make it out, try living here, I guess you could say the same for me, eh?
