YAY!!! Finally got it to install. Not sure exactly what happened. Okay I'll take a guess. I tried showing the admin account by doing a "net user administrator /active:yes" in cmd.exe while UAC was turned on and it gave me an access denied error. Don't think I tried it again with UAC turned off till today. Well I was thinking I should try it again with UAC off and it worked this time. So I logged off and logged on with the admin account. Setup worked perfectly. Installed both Renegade and WOL components. Renegade works fine now. Still have a problem with Renguard and my serial hash, but I'll post that in the Renguard client section of the forums.

Edit: K setup seems to have made a proper hash of my serial and added it to the registry. Renguard is now working fine too. I hate Vista...
