

---

Subject: Re: Fixing... Points?

Posted by Spoony on Wed, 01 Oct 2008 21:01:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Baker wrote on Sun, 28 September 2008 08:47lol and you guys call the anti-pointsfix people immature?

if you think sadukar's use of the word LOLWTFBBQ at the end of a completely legitimate statement puts the "pro-pointsfix" crowd on the same level to which the anti-pointsfix crowd has repeatedly sunk, I really don't know what to say to you. is he spending months and months doing nothing but character assassination? is he outright lying to his community to influence opinion? is he categorically ignoring what the person he's arguing with is saying? is he making up fake straw-man quotes? is he campaigning for individual community pointsfix/pointsbug choice and then saying someone else's community isn't allowed to choose pointsfix?

until the "pro-pointsfix" crowd does all of the above, don't compare them to the immaturity the anti-pointsfix crowd has displayed from the very beginning of this subject.

Fobby wrotePoints fix or not, a team of Ramjets will never win against a team of tanks. no, an entire team of ramjets is doomed, but a couple of ramjets getting points for NO REASON while the rest of the team actually does something useful = perfectly capable of winning the game... FOR NO REASON

---