
Subject: Re: Random political views survey
Posted by jnz on Thu, 02 Oct 2008 09:04:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Cabal8616 wrote on Thu, 02 October 2008 10:01 If a child grows up with no responsibility, chances are they'll remain a type of person with none.

Punishment is hard to issue to kids though- If you punish them pretty hard, they start to hate you/be scared of you/whatever. Punish them too little, and they became ignorant of responsibility.

I didn't mean small stuff like dresssing themselves or brushing their teeth, more like worrying about paying a mortgage or running a car.
