It's true - they don't shimmer while being repaired. I saw an Engineer doing it to an enemy Stealth. I was in my Medium and saw the Engineer shooting his repair gun at what seemed to be nothing, so I fired a round and made a hit.

It CAN work. I've seen it happen. Most of the time it's just someone running and firing the repair gun at nothing for some reason - see "Blue Beam of Death" thread for possible explanation...? And someone will start shooting to try and land a hit. Sometimes there's a tank there, sometimes not. It's one of those tricks you have to use when the moment is right.
