I don't like the fact that they started a project and didn't finish it.

I for one was looking forward to Tiberium as it is the type of game that I love playing. It was an RTS C&C from a different perspective (as you still commanded your units).

I want them to finish Tiberium, because whether they do or not, the only way they would ever make a C&C Renegade 2 would be further into the future and that's with or without Tiberium...

It would make no difference if Tiberium was released or if it wasn't. That's why I think that they should finish Tiberium first, and then they have the rest of the future to create a Renegade 2.
