Or would you be able to keep the site like is and have the same Renhelp.net domain?

That's all he wants and that's all it would take. Just like he said, whoever gets the chance to take renhelp.net over, he'll give him/her/it full ftp access to download the files so they can re-upload them wherever they choose.

In my experience of transfers, it will take about 20 minutes to make the transfer complete...or depends on how many files he's got/how big the entire site is >:]

But, an average site only takes about 20 mins tops to transfer. DNS will take it's usual DNS transfer time.
