My experience is that they will completely ignore you as all they care about is posting yet more useless PR crap about $insert_latest_game_here

Sounds about right to me, EA sort of discontinued Renegade in the first place as well so I doubt they would have been much help even if all they cared about wasn't their latest release. Also notice that even in their newer games that they will go ahead and release patches that only address the smaller issues, and never address the much more obvious but harder to fix issues. Ea isn't what it used to be..
