I don't understand, are you saying you would put these forums activity, as a priority over getting information to new eyes, and potentially new players?

I think it's better to reach as many people as possible over traffic to a particular site.

For me, it's like comparing people who release there work to the community, and those that don't. I would rather have an empty server myself, if it meant that more players stayed, even it they did stay in other peoples servers.

I don't see any draw-backs in posting as much as possible over there. If people stopped using this forum, and they only used the EA forum, then what does it matter? It would mean less work for the administration, and lower bills. And on the plus side it would reach a wider audience.

I don't understand the logic, is it a sense of loyalty to the administration? I'm sure they would agree with the above, afterall, we all love renegade. Infact, it might be an idea to just foward this domian to there forums, and migrate the database over there.
