I don't know how many have heard of this. I have heard of a certain Planet X or a giant celestial body or a black hole right near or Solar Syatem.

And it looks like the hysteria and this concept is quickly spreading. I heard something about this way back in 2003 I remember...then it all went quiet. Now the rage is starting up again...

Most probably heard of it...rogue plant that will wreck havoc on Earth and cause the sun to release massive flares, cause heat waves, global warming, volcanic eruptions, floods, earthquakes, and cause massive deaths. All somehow loosly connected with the Mayan calender which ends around Dec 21-23, 2012.

I have been reading a bit about this stuff past 2 days...seems interesting and scary and seems true as well. NASA reportedly tracking this object ever since they found it in the early 80's. It can only be clearly observed from the Southern hemisphere and that too only when it pulls more closer.

Of course, I would hate for this thing to happen but already a sort of scare has started. Movie industry is cashing in on the event (as usual greedy pigs) by making a movie called 2012 release in summer 2009.

So what do you all think this is about? Anything relevant? Any opinions you care to share?

ps: I did not want to post any link/article...you can Google them yourselves and decide if it's interesting or not. Just your opinions...
