CarrierII wrote on Tue, 06 January 2009 15:16You don't even need to type "!c4", pressing the "End" key does the same thing (that's the standard shortcut anyway)

So wait? if I don't have corepatch installed then I have no way of using this tool, and would have to stop, press f2, and type !c4 in game, as apposed to mapping the !c4 to a single button (you can change it from "end" to anything else)

So wait, by you having core patch and I don't then you would have an advantage over me. Corepatch isn't officially supported by EA/Westwood so it's not a standard. Many players are not currently using corepatch.
 For example, right now in n00bsvr01:

(07:17:47) @/n00bsvr01   > There are 28 Core Patch users and 16 no-CP users online

So 28 people have an advantage over 16 people?

I know its not an advantage to the same degree has building code, but its the same idea of having something else another person doesn't have, by default.