Religious people don't like to look at the facts when they think about their beliefs. It's all about brainwashing kids with religious garbage when they're young and ingrain it in them so that when they grow up they won't try so hard to truly think about their existence. They will always be dumb and unable to think until they stop putting their fingers in their ears and going lalala whenever science is mentioned.

although I suppose if there wasn't any stupid people we wouldn't know who the smart ones were.
