
Subject: Re: [SKIN]Pink + Black Truck
Posted by Zuess on Thu, 19 Mar 2009 03:11:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Can I make a suggestion.

Dont post everything you make.

Your just starting out obviously, so its good your experimenting, but there are people here that take time to make it look the best it possibly be, almost to the point of obsessive compulsive, and your just insulting all the work and time they put into something by just changing a few colors and thinking its something new.

I'm not trying to bash you or anything, but everyone has to start somewhere.

Once your done modeling or skinning something, take a step back, take a look at it, and say to yourself "Would I spend money on a game that has this in it?".
Dont just stop there, ask some friends what they think.

Once thats done, go back and take another look at it.

Then if you think that it is worthy, for sure post it!

But it looks like you have a long way to go to get any proper modeling or texturing that is worthy of peoples praise.
Keep it up, and don't let the nay-sayers on this forum get too you. But again, don't give them a reason to.
